Class of 2020
Dear Class of 2020 Graduate,

Congratulations! On behalf of the University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center Fran and Earl Ziegler College of Nursing, I want to welcome you to the OU College of Nursing Alumni Community. You are following in the footsteps of more than 11,500 Sooner nurses and joining a long-held tradition of advancing the nursing profession in Oklahoma – and beyond its borders.

Your journey to this point has already introduced you to many OU nursing alumni, including your faculty, clinical mentors, co-workers, guest speakers, and state and national nursing leaders. As you continue to grow in this profession, you will discover that OU College of Nursing graduates span the globe and serve in a variety of leadership positions. Today you have become their peer and colleague.

OU College of Nursing's standard of excellence is substantiated by our alumni, who personify the shared ideals of excellence, integrity, and compassion. We have no doubt you will uphold this legacy for many years to come. I urge you to stay connected to this prestigious network and take advantage of the opportunities it offers. Remember, you will always have the University of Oklahoma in common with your classmates, and those who came before and follow after you. On behalf of all of us at the OU College of Nursing, I congratulate you on your academic achievement and welcome you to the nursing profession.

Sincerely,

Julie Anne Hoff, PhD, MPH, RN
Dean
President’s Associates Presidential Professorship
Fran and Earl Ziegler grew up in Seminole County and attended the University of Oklahoma, where Fran earned a degree in history and economics in 1949 and Earl received a bachelor's degree in petroleum engineering in 1952. Before Fran's passing in 2002, Mrs. Ziegler served on the Campaign Council to build the Sam Noble Museum of Natural History, and she and her husband provided support for the museum's construction and its endowment. Earl lives in Dallas and is an Energy Center office sponsor, Endowed Associate, supporter of the Alumni Scholars Program and the Sooner Heritage Scholarship Program. The Zieglers were donors of the beautiful Allan Houser sculpture, “Homeward Bound” for the Norman campus and of “Dreamcatcher,” a sculpture by Star Liana York, for the Health Sciences Center campus. Both sculptures are indicative of the Ziegler’s love for southwestern art. Additionally, the Zieglers have contributed to petroleum engineering scholarships on the Norman campus.

For their outstanding service and support, both Fran and Earl have been honored with OU Regents’ Alumni Awards. The Ziegler’s contributions to nursing are exceptional. They support an endowed chair and a visiting scholarship program. The Frances E. Ziegler Nursing Scholarship, first awarded in 2003, provides approximately 40 scholarships per year to nursing students at OU. The naming of the Fran and Earl Ziegler College of Nursing in their honor recognizes their longstanding support of the University of Oklahoma.

The Class of 2020 dedicates this yearbook to Mr. and Mrs. Ziegler for the contributions and appreciation of nursing.

A custom practiced by some Plains Indian tribes was fashioning a leather wrapped circle and tying string through its middle in the pattern of a spider web. An opening was left in the center of the web to which were attached various good luck charms. Fastening the talisman to the head of a cradleboard allowed the child’s good dreams to be trapped, anchored by the talisman, and the malevolent forces to pass through, only to dissipate.

This Apache woman has traded for the talisman – called a dreamcatcher – and views it in wonder and hope for her young child’s future…determined to give the child every advantage – using the hope of higher power intervention to insure the child’s well being.
